

Chicago Quilt Festival

April 17, 2010

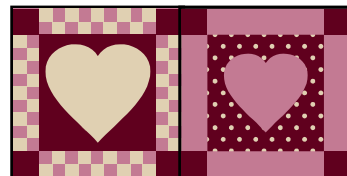

Celebrate the joy of quilts, fabric, fibers, threads and artistry at the 2010 International Quilt Festival in Chicago. Now in its eighth year, this quilt lovers' exposition attracts more than 20,000 quilt artists, aficionados and collectors from across North America. The show and sale feature more than 1,000 quilts and examples of textiles and wearable art. More than 100 different classes will be available, as well as lectures, a quilt-making Academy, and other special events.

Shopping? You bet! Over 500 booths will offer quilts, fabrics, books, notions, crafts, patterns, machines and sewing supplies. Spread the word to everyone in your quilt club, your church group, and to all those who appreciate the creativity and skill involved in the stitching arts.
